

Privacy Policy for the Meet Your Life Partner Educational Program

Introduction and Summary

I want to make it easy for you to understand what information I collect from you, what I do with it, and how you can request access to this information.

I believe this is a best practice to maintain transparency and trust with my website visitors and clients, and it just so happens that this complies with the laws of many countries around the world, too. If you have questions about this policy, you can contact me at valerie@valeriejkeimtherapy.com.

I collect as little information from you as possible for a specific and identifiable purpose, and then I commit to using this information only in the way I have specified. When you visit this site, you are agreeing to this Privacy Policy, the collection of information identified in this policy, and you always have the ability to opt out.

What Personal Information I Collect and When

I collect information so that I can make our products and services better tailored to the people who visit our site and do business with us. I collect this information to (i) deliver products and services you have purchased from me, (ii) to notify you about our product or service offerings that you may be interested in, so long as you have given us consent to do so.

I collect information from you directly and indirectly through third-party services, as follows:

When you contact me...

- With questions or comments in the contact form.
- When you comment on a post directly on the website.
- To request more information, schedule a telephone call, or sign up to the newsletter.
- To place an order for products or services.
- To receive your product or services.

When I contact you...

- To provide the goods and services you requested.
- To request occasional feedback.
- To provide news, updates, and offers through the newsletter, usually by email.
- When I contact others...
- I may see certain personal information from third party apps and services that allow me to complete your order.
- I may see certain personal information from third party installations that allow me to remarket my services and products to you on other websites.
- I may see certain personal information from third party apps and services that allow me to monitor website traffic, email conversion, and other analytics data.
- I may see your personal information when I work with third party processors, like our email provider and web host. For EU residents, please note that this means we may transmit your data across international borders.

Your Privacy Controls

I use third-party services on my websites to assist in communicating or interacting with the public, including social media services, widgets, apps, pixels, and plugins, as further identified below. These services may distinguish or trace your identity, through, for example, persistent, multi-session cookies.

You can configure your system to delete cookies or disable them. In general, I do not collect or disseminate information collected by these services. When interacting with these third parties, their privacy policies apply. As of the time of this writing, we use:

- Google Analytics: Specifically, Google Analytics collects data about visitors to the Site via Google advertising cookies and anonymous identifiers, in addition to other data which may be collected through a standard Google Analytics implementation. We do not merge personally-identifiable information with non-personally identifiable information collected through any Google advertising product or feature. Should you wish to opt out of any Google Analytics Advertising features, you are encouraged to change your Ad Settings and Ad Setting for mobile apps, through the NAI's consumer opt-out, or by using any of the other opt-out options currently available: currently available opt-outs.
- Facebook. More information is available here: <https://www.facebook.com/privacy/policy/>.
- Instagram. More information is available here: <https://privacycenter.instagram.com/policy/>.
- Ivy Pay: More information is available here: <https://www.talktoivy.com/ivypay/privacy-policy>.

Cookies are small text files placed on your computer to collect information about the pages you view and your activities on the site. They enable the site to recognize you by, for example, remembering your user name, offering a shopping cart, or keeping track of your preferences if you visit the site again. The cookie transmits this information back to the website's computer (or server) which generally is the only computer that can read it. You can set your Web browser to warn you about attempts to place cookies on your computer, or to limit the type of cookies you allow. See also more information on how to change cookies settings in popular desktop browsers.

- This site uses single and multi-session cookies to enhance the visitor experience. Use the link above to opt out.
- This site does not sell or share its email list for use by third parties.

If you choose to opt out of some or all of my data collection, you may not be able to access all features of this website or my services.

Keeping Your Information Secure

I store personal information with third parties that use industry standard practices for data security.

Your Rights to Your Information

You own your personal information and have rights to it. For example, you have the rights to:

- Withdraw your consent for me to market my products and services to you and otherwise use the personal information you have provided to me. Withdrawing consent is easy. Simply click “unsubscribe” in the footer of our emails.
- Request a copy of the information I have about you;
- Be forgotten (that is, have your data deleted and/or ask me to stop using your information for any purpose);
- Correct inaccurate information I have about you (and that means I will notify other service providers I use, and who hold your personal information for me, of those changes as well);
- Object to direct marketing and profiling (for example, I will remove you from my email list and from any list I have uploaded for the purposes of creating custom or retargeted audiences). I also encourage you to disable data collection services on your browser;
- Make complaints about the use of your data to regulatory authorities.

I will comply with these requests within 30 days.

Compliance

I make commercially reasonable efforts to work with data controllers (like our email provider) who guarantee compliance with privacy laws like the European Union’s General Data Protection Regulation.

I store your personal information only for as long as it is needed to use it for the reasons you have consented to.

Occasionally I will revise this policy and will use your contact information to notify you of these changes if they reduce your privacy rights in any way.

Updated October 2023.